The Property

The subject property comprises of a residence and yard on approx. 39.5 acres (16 ha) of land in agricultural use, the land is set in a mature setting along the River Boyne with four access points onto Boyne Road. The residential element of the property is in need of modernisation.

There is a two-storey red bricked cottage which is single storey to the roadside and drops into a courtyard which oozes character and has a real old world feel. Set behind the courtyard is a mix of cut stone buildings made up of a haybarn with leanto, machinery and storage sheds.

The spilt level 6 bedroom residence extends to approx. 2,840 sq.ft. (264 sq.m.).

The lands are laid out in approximately five divisions with boundaries comprising a mix of mature hedgerows, trees and the canal cow path connecting to the River Boyne. The property also connects onto the new residential development known as Rowley's Lock.

The land is mainly in use for grazing and is in mature grass with three agricultural access points plus a separate entrance to the residential section.

Location

Navan is situated on the River Boyne and has expanded considerably over the past two decades due to its proximity to Dublin City Centre (c.50 kms away) and its excellent road infrastructure (M3 motorway). As a result, Navan has become a commuter town with a population in excess of 35,000 people. The nearby M3 Motorway provides easy access to Blanchardstown (37km) and Dublin City Centre.

Navan, and the surrounding area, is steeped in history and has become a busy commercial centre and the county town for the Meath area. There are many industrial estates located in the vicinity such as Beechmount Industrial Estate and Navan Enterprise Centre.

The property is positioned on the northern side of Navan on the Boyne Road.
