Sherry Fitzgerald is delighted to bring to the market No. 4 Rednagh road which is a three-bedroom detached cottage situated in a highly convenient location on the Rednagh Road, adjacent to Aughrim's Main Street and all its excellent local services and amenities. In need of a complete refurbishment, this elegantly proportioned home offers a great opportunity for any discerning buyer to put their own stamp on it or extend like the neighbours have done.

The stone cottage built in the early 1900's, still retains many of its original features including the granite stone walls, deep window sills, old style doors, great character, real charm and is standing on just over half an acre of gardens with loads of space should one wish to extend the original cottage or permission could be sought a site, (subject to obtaining the necessary planning permissions).

Internally, the accommodation measures approx. 74.7sq.m./803sq.ft to include an entrance hallway, living room, kitchen to the rear which looks out over the large rear garden, 3 bedrooms, one of which could also be used as a study/home office, rear hallway and family bathroom.

The property is very conveniently located within the quaint village of Aughrim, opposite the renowned Angling Lake and pleasure gardens. The famed Granite village of Aughrim was a regular winner in the tidy town's competition, and has won the coveted first prize, no mean feat. It is a vibrant village with good restaurants, pubs, cafes, shops, butchery, pharmacy, national school, post office, sports facilities, children's playground etc. It could satisfy all ones needs without travelling, although the nearby town of Arklow, c. 10 kilometers away has cinema, shopping centres, large supermarkets, schools, main bus, and train lines.
