About this property

Shore House is a period home and eco-glampsite set in a stunning coastal location overlooking Lough Foyle along the Inishowen Peninsula. The house is understood to date from c.1895s and was purchased by the current owner in c.2016 who undertook a full renovation of Shore House.

Accessed off the R238 road and continuing down a laneway, a gated entrance opens up into the paved forecourt area which offers ample parking to the side of the house.

Firstly, walking into the porch there is a wc/utility room which then opens into the kitchen area. Off the kitchen is a living room which features a Stanley range cooker. Off the living room is a sunroom which is south-easterly facing and offers wonderful views across Lough Foyle. Accessed then off the living room is a sitting room. Continuing upstairs there are two bedrooms and a family bathroom.

In all the accommodation of Shore House extends to about 1385 sq ft/ 128.7 sq m, with a full layout shown on the adjoining floorplans.

The Hideaway Eco-Glamping & Outbuildings

The current owner has in recent times transformed the grounds of Shore House into an eco-glamping business which was created to give a unique and memorable experience for their guests. There are four eco pods of a wooden design (Rowan Tree, Cherry Blossom, Sleepy Lavender, Daisy Chain) which provide accommodation for up to 12 guests.

In addition to the pods, there are a range of amenities including a communal kitchen, toilet/shower facilities and a BBQ area, communal hut called The Sheebeen (which extends to about 817 sq ft/ 76 sq m) is a wonderful cosy space for guests to relax with its wood burning stove, a steam house with a hot tub and BBQ/sheltered outdoor area called The Wee Ceili House complete with a pizza oven. There is also a large garage with an internal workshop.
