Sherry FitzGerald Catherine O'Reilly brings to the market this superb, spacious, and unique family home, The Sanctuary, Macreddin, Aughrim, nestled in the heart of County Wicklow, where history meets modern comfort.

Experience the charm of a bygone era seamlessly blended with contemporary living in this meticulously reimaged old church. Prepare to be enchanted by vaulted ceilings, original lancet windows, and panoramic views that will captivate your senses. Discover a home filled with character and warmth, where every corner tells a story waiting to be shared.

Step into a world of timeless elegance and unparalleled comfort at The Sanctuary. Located amidst the scenic beauty of County Wicklow, this reimaged church offers a retreat like no other. Whether you seek solitude or adventure, this unique home serves as the perfect backdrop for your dreams.

The Sanctuary was opened in 1869 and deconsecrated in 1991, when it was converted to a home. It was further renovated between 2020 and 2022 and is now in fact a fully equipped three-bedroom family home.

The property is spread across three floors, a building of immense character and charm inside and out, there's a decidedly rustic feel, with original exposed beams and lancet windows in a Gothic style, but the whole property has been carefully redesigned in recent years and is now a wonderful home.

The accommodation comprises of three bedrooms (all ensuite) kitchen, living room, utility, pantry, sunroom / family room, bathrooms, and the property also has lots of period details such as its original front door, lancet windows and exposed brick adding interest over its 225sq m (2,422sq ft) of floor space.

Escape the ordinary and embrace the extraordinary at The Sanctuary, Macreddin in Co Wicklow. Whether you seek a peaceful retreat or a base for exploration, this unique home offers the perfect blend of comfort, character, and convenience.
